Working with a state director of the Texas Historical commission I have been called upon as a an SCV member and private citizen to assist in repairing & restoring vandalized Texas Historical markers in my community and was trained by THC in historical marker cleaning & restoring (see photos in Exhibit "A")

Further the TXSCV has a cooperative effort with the Texas Historical Commission bat Ft Lancaster with an exhibit regarding the grave of a Confederate private that is buried in the Post cemetery when the facility was under Southern control during the War for Southern Independence (see photo in Exhibit "B").

TXSCV members have volunteered literally thousands of hours in cleaning and maintaining to include

I have volunteered hundreds of hours personally as a tribute to the sacrifice and contribution of our Confederate ancestors. Their valor and sacrifices should never be forgotten.

The information in this affidavit is true, based on my personal knowledge, information and belief. Where based on information & belief, I believe it to be true.

JOHN CONNALLY
GOVERNOR OF TEXAS

March 19, 1964

The Civil War Centennial has been approached by the Texas State Historical Survey Committee, its Civil War Advisory Committee and county affiliates as a time to set the record straight. Rather than have books go on forever repeating that nothing happened in the state during the war or that this period is unimportant to our history, our job has been to bring about a better understanding of the tremendous role that Texas played: successful guarding of 2,000 miles of Indian frontier and seacoast; keeping open trade routes to Mexico; being the last place in the South where the Federal blockade could be run; to bring in goods from international commerce; serving as the breadbasket and the meat supplier for many troops and several states; furnishing and equipping thousands of soldiers and horses for fighting in other states while keeping up her own defenses without aid from other states.

Especially remarkable was the military and civilian role of leaders from Texas, numerous generals and members of the Confederate executive leadership having come from here. Even a short glance at the record will show that Texas contributed her share of men and women of moral fiber and high morale.

Texas is recognizing these contributions through a program of research, recordation, education and recognition. Confederate Memorial Information markers are being placed in accessible locations to interpret and commemorate the role of prominent Texas Confederates, battles, frontier outposts, coastal fortifications, manufacturing plants and military and supply centers.

Each County Historical Survey Committee in the state is sponsoring at least one Centennial program or observance. Graves of Civil War veterans-- Union and Confederate--are being surveyed, recorded and marked. Museums and libraries are featuring exhibits and collections. Diaries and letter collections, journals, memoirs and muster-rolls are making their appearance from dusty attics and are being placed in local and state archives available to the public.

Texas is remembering with a program of dignity and humility.

Dear Mr. Ginn:

I hope this letter finds you well. Thank you again for the opportunity to travel to your home and conduct a digital oral history interview with you on July 15, 2008. I truly enjoyed our visit and I wanted to thank you for your time and energy to meet with me.

Please find enclosed the following: a copy of the digital voice recording made during the interview, copies of the Texas Historical Commission's official Texas historical markers in Galveston related to Civil War topics, a press release about and a copy of the inscription for the next Texas Civil War Monument dedication—Rowletts Station, Kentucky to Terry's Texas Rangers (set for December 17, 2008) and a copy of the 1998 Texas Civil War Monument dedication ceremony program in Galveston and pictures I took of the monument on June 7, 2008.

Thank you for your continued efforts to preserve the historical record of our shared Texas heritage. I look forward to updating you in the future on the plans for a Texas Sesquicentennial of the Civil War Initiative.

Sincerely,

William McWhorter
